

“Hi, I’m Bryan aka Screeny. I know insurance probably isn’t the most exciting thing you’ll read about today but here’s the truth: it matters when life doesn’t go to plan. My job is to make sure you don’t just have insurance, but that you actually understand it, feel good about it, and know it’s built around your world, not someone else’s.

As a parent of twins, I like to keep things simple: I listen, I ask the right questions, and I give advice that makes sense without all the jargon. No cookie-cutter policies here just personalised cover that fits who you are / business is, what you do, and where you’re heading.

At the end of the day, I’m not just sorting out policies I’m helping people feel confident and secure about their future with nearly 15 years of experience, so you can focus on what matters most... your growing Whanau!”
