

Advocacy in Action: Shaping Cancer Care Together

Join us in Wellington for three days of connection, learning and collaboration at the NZSO Annual Conference in association with the NZNO Cancer Nurses College, bringing together the people shaping the future of cancer care across Aotearoa New Zealand and beyond.

Explore the latest advances in cancer research, treatment and clinical practice, hear from leading national and international experts, and connect with colleagues from across the multidisciplinary oncology community.

What to expect

- Leading national and international speakers sharing the latest advances in oncology
- Expert symposia and presentations exploring key issues in cancer care
- Clinical and scientific research through oral and poster presentations
- Special Interest Group meetings and opportunities to connect with colleagues
- Nursing breakout sessions with international and national speakers
- Multiple networking opportunities including Poster session, Conference dinner and Early Career Networking function

Whether you are a clinician, scientist, nurse, allied health professional, researcher or other member of the cancer care community, this is an opportunity to connect with your peers, expand your knowledge and contribute to the conversation about the future of cancer care.
